

Trauma Association of Canada (TAC) Post-Graduate Course: Simulated Trauma and Resuscitation Team Training (S.T.A.R.T.T)

Take Trauma Management to the Next Level

Chair: Dr. Lawrence Gillman

The 2019 Canadian Surgery Forum taking place in Toronto, ON is again offering The Simulated Trauma and Resuscitation Team Training (STARTT). The STARTT course takes trauma management to the next level by focusing on building and operating an effective trauma team. This course was developed in Canada in 2012. It adapts on crisis leadership, communication, teamwork, situational awareness and problem solving skills that were developed for the airline industry and applies them to trauma resuscitation training. It builds on the trauma training offered in the American College of Surgeons' Advanced Trauma Life Support (ATLS) course and is unique in that it is the first trauma training course that is focused not only on physician education but also nurses and respiratory therapists who all complete the course together in a true multidisciplinary learning environment.

Target Audience: Physicians or Residents/trainees (including ED physicians and Surgeons), Nurses and Respiratory Therapist interested in learning more about trauma and trauma teams.

Participants will form teams consisting of Physicians, Nurses and Respiratory Therapists who will work together to manage trauma patients through a series of high-fidelity simulation based scenarios. Each simulation is followed by an extensive debriefing session led by experienced trauma team leaders discussing not only the medical content of the scenario but also focusing on communication, leadership skills and CRM principles. Previous ATLS/TNCC training is ideal though not essential.
